Romans 10:14-15

Announcing...

Natalie Joy was born February 14th at 8lbs 5oz, 21 inches with brown eyes, and just like Miriam-a head full of hair. She is doing great, and beginning to sleep through the night. She's also had her first 2 flights in the airplane, with earplugs and wrapped snug in a blanket and in her car seat she fell asleep before takeoff. Sabrina and Miriam love helping with anything they can, making her smile and are enjoying being big sisters. They're now known as our "peas in a pod."

The Other New Addition

Our cross-country road trip in the fall was a great adventure. Adam completed the Alaska modifications on our new-to-us Suburban, and we began the drive home. Time was spent along the way visiting with family, like we'd hoped, and friends we haven't seen in many years as well. Traveling through British Columbia and Yukon, Canada we saw bison, caribou, and sheep but thankfully didn't have any run-ins. Our route home didn't cover everybody and we look forward to catching up with others on our next trip, whenever that is! (We don't currently have plans now for the next time but you'll hear it here first.) The Suburban did well all winter, hauling people and stuff reliably and comfortably. Unfortunately, a problem has now cropped up with the transmission so it is in the process of a rebuild.

House News

Speaking of new additions...before we brought Natalie home we knew we needed more room than our current 384 ft² and now we can feel the squeeze. We are planning to someday build a "full-size" house on our property but this summer we'll be adding an east wing onto our "White House." The 14'X20' addition will more than double our existing square footage, allow us to have a full-size bathroom with a door, move the living room out of the kitchen, and give separate sleeping areas for the girls and us. The walls will be built of 3-sided logs again and the inside will have a loft. Many of you have mentioned that you would like to come up and help with a project sometime; here is the chance. Adam needs help to finish during our short building season, let us know if you're interested in coming so timelines and plans can be made.

N412EP Logbook

The switch from wheels to skis this winter and back again in April went smoothly. It took longer than expected for the ice to thicken up last autumn because of moderate temperatures and heavy snowfall but once we got onto the lakes and rivers we appreciated the deeper snow for the good landings. Christmas was our last family trip until Natalie was six weeks old, and coupled with stretches of 30 below and colder temperatures, we had a stretch of time in the middle of winter that saw very little flying. Now the last of our lakes have thawed we're ready to attach the floats once again and get busy. During winter storage the float struts (the framework rising above the pontoons) were damaged, the replacement parts have arrived, Adam is now gathering materials and waiting on the weather for a tranquil day to paint and repair. We hope to be in the water by the second week of June.

Ever Thankful

The Bible study in Lake Minchumina continues to meet and we have begun studying Ephesians. Time spent together with these friends has continued to strengthen and encourage everyone, us included. Every get-together is a big event and it's reminiscent of earlier days when visitors would spend days with their hosts rather than hours. We often spend two or three days visiting with one evening set aside for praying, singing and studying together. Adam has also been asked to begin leading a study in Nenana and looking at the list of projects for the summer the best opportunity to begin will come in the fall.

We continue to be amazed at the opportunities to be Christ's ambassadors as Paul speaks of in 2 Cor. 5; whether it's by visiting via plane, talking on the phone/radio or by catching up with folks when we see them in town.

The End

Our lakes and rivers aren't the only bodies to thaw this spring; we've felt revived by the warm weather and our incredible daylight with 4am sunrises and 12am sunsets! Keeping up with writing is on our list of things to do with our extra energy, so watch for updates of our projects this summer on the website: www.TheWhitePagesOnline.com and also look at archives of past updates and letters (.pdf form) as well. There are always more pictures online too, and if you're receiving a paper copy of our letter but don't need, or want, it let us know with an email.

Grace, mercy and peace from God the Father and Christ Jesus our Lord.

Together Serving Him,
Adam, Lyndy, Sabrina, Miriam and Natalie White
